

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a transmitter and a receiver capable of transmitting and receiving attribute information of 5 a program while maintaining a high level of secrecy.

Specifically, a transmitter (100) in a transmission and reception system comprising the transmitter (100) for transmitting program contents (21) and attribution information (22) of the program and a receiver (200) for receiving the program
10 contents (21) and accumulating part or whole of the program contents (21) transmits meaning information (24) indicating the meaning and contents of the attribute information (22) in addition to the attribute information (22).

2009133630-1000048